There are currently four collectable, plush characters in the Little Lost Bear Collection and they all feature in Rikey Austin’s new storybook of the same name...

Little Lost Bear
This Little Lost Bear has been inspired by the main character in the storybook.

Snowie
This ‘snowie’ white cat helps Little Lost Bear to settle into the lost and found office.

Mischief
This mischievous mouse is quite hard to spot in the Little Lost Bear storybook - peek-a-boo!

Wellington
Wellington is the pet dog of Little Lost Bear’s new family but will they find him?

Each character in the Little Lost Bear Collection has tiny magnets in their paws and eyes so they can play peek-a-boo together!
She showed Jack how the bear growled when he was tipped upside down. Jack smiled. Jack was soon well again, but he still liked to play with the old bear. But one day the bear stopped growling. Jack shook him hard but the old bear would not make a sound. Jack sat the bear on the chair next to his bed and soon forgot all about him.

And she stitched his loose ears. She cleaned him gently and was even able to find a near perfect match for his missing eye.

The little bear began, leaping about and acting out his part. In his story the sea was stormy, the gull became an eagle, the fishes sharks and the kindly fisherman a pirate, but the funny thing was that as he told his story he began to giggle...

...and by the time he told Alice about the crab in the pot (which he described as a monstrous lobster) she was hugging her belly and rolling with laughter.

"Oh, oh, oh!" said Sandy as very slowly the whole table top tilted up and slipped gracefully to the floor with Sandy still hanging on. Paints, water and brushes all slid with a crash on top of her.

Nowie arrived back at the bear's side with a fluffy hat with tassels. The little bear pulled it down over his ears and felt much better.

"Come on," said Snowie. "Let me show you around".

All that night the little bear explored the lost property department with Snowie. She showed him how to juggle with balls from a magic set and made him laugh until his belly ached when she dressed up in different hats. When the Station Master opened the lost property department the next morning he found them curled up together, fast asleep.

She thought that she had seen something sparkle in its beak.

Dad fetched a ladder from the shed and leant it up against the tree.

Storybooks

There are currently six Alice's Bear Shop storybooks available, which have all been written and illustrated by Rikey Austin...
